

Acknowledgment and Fixes of Known Errors within The Fall of America: The Rebellion Awakens

While writing this intensive work, I tried my best to get everything right. Turns out I'm not perfect, and instead of hiding from my errors by not acknowledging them, I'm publicly listing the things that I know need to change in the event a revised edition is printed. If you can offer any help with this, please email me. Thanks for your understanding and patience,

Geoff
geoff@geofflinsley.com

THE BIRTH OF THE REBELLION

CH 4 (p. 108): Spacing error under subheading “ IRS.”

CH 10 (p. 240): There was a strange truncation during publication that became a major error. The chapter starts mid-sentence. This is the missing text before it:

Three Weeks Later

“462472!” The Ticketmaster shakes the shit out of Dermot’s bunk, shocking his senses far more than the surrounding symphony of snotty snores. “Wake up! Medical wants you.” According to routine, he cans the aggression felt from his unnecessarily rude awakening.

THE REBELLION